Letters To The Editor

Bob:

The Michigan Skin Diving Council feels pretty bad about the way the clean up of the AuSable was fouled up last fall, and they are planning on a real job this spring to make up for it.

I picked up Bob Nagy of that group of clubs at Masons airport last Saturday and we made a good survey of the river and spots used for the purpose of picking up the debris which will be picked up, and other points relating to such a project.

The main stream will be done first, the South Branch from Roscommon to the mouth. This is the tentative plan at the moment.

As it shapes up right now, we will be having between 100 and 150 club members and their wives or families here for at least one day. Buses are tentatively being furnished by different concerns at Detroit, and other plans are taking shape nicely.

The date of this project is definitely set for Saturday, May 18, and will not be changed.

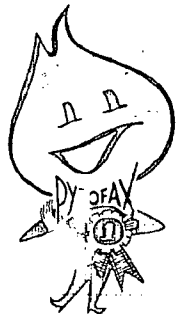

Grayling canoe liveries as well as livery operators in Roscommon will be contacted shortly for their support and assistance.

With the interest and support of the Conservation Dept. as in the past, as well as the AuSable property owners association support and assistance, this should be a top notch weekend for all concerned in the area.

I am enclosing the Skin Diving Councils latest paper and will forward particulars to you for your needed assistance as received.

Thank You,
Bud Stephan, Pres.

State To Continue In Federal Training Program Year-To-Year

NEW JOB TRAINING

Michigan's continued participation in the Federal Manpower Development and Training program is assured, but the Legislature will extend the program only on a year-to-year basis.

Last year the Legislature gave near unanimous approval to a year program of participation under the Federal law, as administered by Area Redevelopment Administration. Putting a June 30, 1963, expiration date on the State enabling act, legislators said they wanted a year to determine whether the program would be useful.

This year the legislators were in agreement that the several courses offered under the program throughout the state were effective in solving some temporary unemployment problems, but they still didn't want to be permanently tied down under the Federal program.

Thus, the Michigan act is just being extended one more year, to June 30, 1964, when legislators will take another look at it.

Superintendent of Public Instruction Lynn M. Bartlett, under whose department the program is administered in the state, said the courses were fulfilling a two-fold purpose.

"Primarily they train or re-train people who are out of work to fill unmet industry or business demands for workers in specific occupations," he said.

"In addition, in many instances such as Upper Peninsula courses for cooking and baking, the courses add to the economic stability of the community by supplying the skilled labor necessary to develop or maintain the industrial or business resources of the area."

Still another benefit cited by Bartlett is the return of Federal money, which actually is Michigan's tax dollars, back into the state by paying for the programs and providing subsistence allowances to support program trainees.

Michigan has already received approval for nearly 40 programs under the act.

Within the state, the program is administered by the State Board of Control for Vocational Education. Trainees are selected by the Michigan Employment Security Commission from its unemployment rolls.

CARE NEEDED

Child poisoning, an accident of curiosity, involves about 600,000 pre-school children each year, according to the U. S. Public Health Service.

This needless problem reports State Health Commissioner Albert E. Heustis, is usually the combination of a curious child and a careless adult.

"Inquisitive youngsters will eat and drink just about anything," warns Dr. Heustis. "It's surprising what horrible-tasting stuff a youngster will swallow."

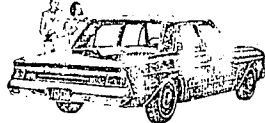

The most poison-prone of any age group is the toddler, Heustis says. "He has the ability to get hold of things but lacks the judgment as to what he can or should not put in his mouth."

The most frequently occurring factors in child poisoning are unsupervised toddlers, and toxic material left where inquisitive eyes

Federal Kitty Gets $1,109,000 Locally

(Special to the Avalanche)

NEW YORK — How much will Crawford County residents be turning over to Uncle Sam, on or before April 15th, in income taxes?

Unless the old gentleman has gone awry with his revenue predictions, the local returns should be hefty.

On the basis of overall income in the county during the past year, payments should be even larger than they were last April, when they amounted to approximately $750,000.

That is the estimated total paid on the previous year's earnings. It includes taxes collected through the withholding process and direct payments made on other income.

The amount is based on an unofficial breakdown of collections in the State of Michigan, listed at $2,519,000,000 by the Internal Revenue Service, and on local incomes.

The figures show that residents of Crawford County contributed 0.03 percent of the entire amount collected in the state.

This year, the Federal budget is primed for personal income tax payments of $45 billion, in view of the rise in earnings during 1962. That would be about $3 billion more than was received last year.

Crawford County's contribution toward this goal, on the strength of preliminary figures showing income totals for the past year, will be nearly $1,109,000.

As for the business picture ahead, the President and his advisers see 1963 as a year of "continued moderate expansion." They expect the gross national product to reach $378 billion, which would be $28 billion more than last year.

More than half of this increase $15 billion, will come from consumer spending, they estimate. This forecast assumes, however, that a tax cut will go into effect soon enough to bolster this sector of the economy.

As for the remainder, $8 billion is to come from added Federal, state and local government spending for goods and services, and the remaining $5 billion from increased business spending.

Counting on these developments, the new Federal budget sets personal income tax collections for next year at $49.3 billion, up $4.3 billion.

Incomes in Crawford County will have to rise by more than 9 percent this year if local taxpayers are to continue meeting their present quota.

The state contributes funds, personnel, administrative direction, and actual operation of the program; the local community, through its facilities and resources, contributes opportunities for the handicapped to utilize the various rehabilitation services, and the federal government contributes financial support on a matching basis, technical assistance, and national leadership.

Point Of View

The Legislative Commission on the State of Michigan, which has been working on a bill to amend the Michigan Constitution, has announced that it has approved a plan for a referendum on the issue of whether or not to allow the state to issue bonds for the purpose of financing a new state building.

Excessive tax reform should be a top priority for the state, the commission said. It also recommended that the state should consider a plan to reduce the state's debt by issuing bonds for the purpose of financing a new state building.

Point Of View . . .

The Legislative Information Service, which is published weekly by the Chamber of Commerce of the United States while Congress is in session, has done an excellent job of summing up, in objective fashion, the pending changes in tax rates and tax policy. Then it adds some suggestions of its own which are at variance with the Administration position.

Excessive tax rates, the argument runs, are slowing economic growth and progress and are a prime cause of a comparatively high unemployment total. Just about everyone is in agreement with this premise. The differences consist of what to do about it.

The Administration stand is that revised rates and tax reform should be combined in a single bill, with the reductions taking place over a three-year period.

Individual income tax rates now run from 20 per cent to 91 per cent. They would be reduced to range from 14 per cent to 65 per cent.

The rate on corporations of any size is now 53 per cent. It would be cut to 47 per cent. This would largely be accomplished by gradually reducing the flat rate which corporations in substantial income brackets now pay.

Along with this, if the Administration plan is followed, there will be structural changes in the tax system. These, as the Information Service observes, are highly controversial. There are three main ones:

The placing of a "floor" on itemized deductions, limitting these deductions to those exceeding 5 per cent of total income. The taxes of everyone itemizing deductions would thus be increased. 2. Eliminating the present credit allowed for dividend income. 3. Major changes, resulting in higher taxes, on the capital gains provisions of the tax laws. These three steps, according to Administration estimates, would bring in about $3.4 billion of the revenue lost through rate reductions, which is figured at about $13.6 billion.

A great many authorities, however, believe that changes such as these would be a barrier, rather than an encouragement, to the stimulation of economic growth. It is notable that the Administration holds out no promise of a decrease in government spending—indeed, big increases are in the offing. The Chamber's release urges a different approach. For one thing, it believes that rate reductions should be separated from legislation covering structural changes. For another it recommends a different approach to minimizing losses due to rate reductions—namely, substantial cuts in federal spending, now and in the future, accompanied by, if necessary, a low-rate uniform excise tax.

This outlines the general problem, and the broad cleavages in point of view. What will happen? As of now, one man's guess is about as good as another's.

Interesting Events In Grayling 23 Years Ago

INTERESTING ITEMS OF NEWS GATHERED FROM THE FILES OF THE AVALANCHE OF 23 YEARS AGO

April 18, 1940

The special elections for the granting of a franchise to the Presque Isle County Electric Cooperative association held in Lovell and Grayling townships respectively carried with large majorities. This is the Federal Electric Rural Administration. Eventually, no doubt, these communities will be getting the benefits of electric service. We trust the work of installation will be speeded up to the utmost, for already there are hundreds of prospective customers waiting for it.

Gerald L. Poor, superintendent of Grayling schools, has notified Grayling Board of Education that he is not intending to continue after the close of the present year of school. Last Monday evening the Board met and offered the position of superintendent to Mr. Frank Bond, now principal of the school.

Mr. Poor has been in Grayling since January, 1930. He came here from Olivet college. He taught here for about 2 1/2 years when he succeeded Laverne Cushman as principal.

About six years ago the then superintendent, Mr. R. R. Burns, took a leave of absence. Accordingly Mr. Poor succeeded him as superintendent. While in Grayling Mr. Poor attended the summer classes at the U. of M. and last year was given a masters degree. Aiming at higher plans of educational work, Mr. Poor is leaving Grayling to reenter the U. of M. where he will work toward a Ph.D. degree. A professorship in a college or university is his ultimate aim.

Puzzling magnetic earth currents, most marked on Isle Royale and near Duluth, are phenomena of the entire native copper district of Lake Superior. After two weeks of working out in the school gym, Grayling's powerhouse baseball team finally started working out at the local ball park. 46 YEARS AGO

"Mid-Summer Eve", given for the benefit of the new M. E. church Friday evening at the Temple Theatre, was a success both financially and as an entertainment.

There were thirty-one in the cast ranging from tiny tots to young ladies. Helen Wescott took the leading part as a child lost in the forest. Milton Hathaway was the Herald and heralded the coming of the moon queen, Miss Grace Bauman, who sang a solo part very sweetly. Little Virginia Hanson and Helen Bauman made a hit as the fairies. Miss Mildred Wilbur was the queen of the forest. George Schroeder and Jimmie Jameson acted as pages for the forest queen. The entertainment was under the supervision of Mrs. C. C. Wescott and Mrs. T. W. Hanson.

A fine daughter arrived at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John H. H. Thursday, April 12.

Tiger Hunt

"But we'll stay longer if necessary." Getting a shot at a tiger will be easy compared to the followup which will no doubt, be necessary. Modern, razorhead arrows - un like rifle bullets - kill by hemorrhage, not shock.

It is the bowman's hope that the tiger will be so well hit that he will only want to find a nice spot to stretch out for that long sleep, and not be in a mood to turn on the hunters.

Given the wounded game time to "stiffen up" is part of the real art of bowhunting. Many rifle men as well as bowmen push game too fast after shooting, only to drive them into deep cover and lose them.

It will be interesting to see if Bear can successfully dispatch a tiger with a bow and arrow. If he does, he will be the first white sportsman on record to do it.

TOTAL PERFORMANCE:

FORD GALAXIE 500-XL SPORTS HARDTOP

YOU'LL KNOW WHY SHE DOESN'T FEEL THE BUMPS...WHEN YOU TEST-DRIVE FORD'S NEW '10,000,000 RIDE

The 1963 Ford gives you a ride every bit as smooth as cars costing hundreds more, and for two reasons: a revolutionary new suspension system... and added road-hugging weight. It took ten million dollars to develop the new Ford ride. We designed a revolutionary new suspension system for the '63 Ford. Where ordinary suspensions move only up and down to absorb road shock, the Ford suspension moves backward as well. In this double-action suspension system, coil springs up front and leaf springs in the rear combine to give you firmness in cornering and a special smoothness over the road. We added weight, strength and stability. The new Ford is now actually hundreds of pounds more car than any other car in its class. This remarkable weight advantage is in the suspension, frame, and body. And, as you know, this added weight means a more stable ride. But a solid, road-smoothing ride is only part of Ford's total performance story for 1963. Look how Ford swept the field this year in the grueling Daytona, Riverside and Atlanta 500's and in the demanding Pure Oil Performance Trials. Only a car with total performance—the best combination of strength, balance, precision control, braking power and road-clinging suspension—could roll up so many wins. Before you buy any new car, test-drive a Super Torque Ford. If you haven't driven one lately, you can't really know what a new Ford is like. Make this important discovery—if it's built by Ford, it's built for performance... total performance.

County Library Has Books For Tots, Too

There are books especially appealing to 1 and 2-year-olds at the Crawford County Library, perhaps some parents did not know. There is no better way to make sure your child reads than to start him early looking at books. In the next few weeks the Ayatlanche will list books especially for the pre-school children, making it easier for families to take one or two out by knowing ahead what to ask for. These books have many pictures but little reading matter.

1. "Grandfather and I", a walk with grandfather through the woods, by Buckley. 2. "Timothy Turtle", by Davis. A forgetful turtle makes trip after trip, mislaying one thing as fast as he finds another. 3. "Angelo, the Naughty One", by Garrett. When the soldiers at the fort outside a Mexican city ask a runaway boy who he is, the boy is ashamed to say he is "Angelo, the naughty one, because he hates baths." So, in the amusing tale, the soldier gives the dirty little boy a good washing. Some full page illustrations in bright colors in this book. 4. "Looking for Something", by Clark. The story of a stray burro of Ecuador, with colorful pictures and the story told in short sentences. 5. "Cats for Kansas", by LeGrand. Cats, frontier and pioneer life, the humorous tale of a trader who brought the first cats to Kansas.
